MELBOURNE VERSUS COLLINGWOOD ON QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY

While Melbourne and Collingwood had played matches at the MCG on the Queen's Birthday holiday a number of times before, including the famous clash in 1958 that attracted 99,256 fans, it was not until 2001 that the AFL agreed to schedule the Melbourne versus Collingwood encounter as the only game on the Monday public holiday. The Magpies have won 12 of the 19 clashes at the MCG since 2001, the Demons have won six and one has been drawn. After Collingwood won in 2001, 2002 and 2003, Melbourne were the victors for four years straight from 2004 to 2007. The Magpies were then victorious in each Queen's Birthday clash from 2008 to 2015, except in 2010 when the teams played out a draw. Since 2001, the largest crowd here has been 83,518 in 2018 and the lowest 50,835 in 2013. The biggest winning margin has been 88 points by Collingwood in 2011 and the smallest four points by Melbourne in 2017. The highest score has been 22.9 (141) by Melbourne in 2006 and the lowest Melbourne's 3.10 (28) in 2014. The COVID-19 pandemic and restrictions on sport in Melbourne meant that there was no Queen's Birthday clash between the clubs in 2020, and the Melbourne v Collingwood match was rescheduled for August 15 at the Gabba in Brisbane. In 2021 the Queen's Birthday match between the clubs was moved to the Sydney Cricket Ground.

KING'S BIRTHDAY 1950

On Monday June 12, 1950, Melbourne met Collingwood at the MCG in Round 8. This was one of three games played on the King's Birthday holiday, the others being St Kilda versus Fitzroy at the Junction Oval (St Kilda won by 5 points) and North Melbourne versus Geelong at the Arden Street Oval (North won by 17 points). A crowd of 55,002 were in attendance at the MCG, and they saw the Demons 16.9 (105) defeat the Magpies 8.11 (59). Melbourne led by 16 points at the first change (5.2 to 2.4) and held the same margin at half-time (7.4 to 4.6). A four-goal to one third quarter gave the Demons a handy 39-point lead at the final change and they increased this to 46 points at the final siren. Writing in the Argus the next day, former Melbourne and Fitzroy defender Audley Gillespie-Jones reported:

Melbourne adapted themselves better to the conditions, and with their back line on top all day, won a highly interesting match against Collingwood on the M.C.G. yesterday. Melbourne were not impressive on the forward line, and would have been in trouble but for the magnificent display of Denis Cordner (who kicked six goals straight), and of Len Dockett (four goals) [Note: AFL Tables list Dockett as kicking three goals]. Collingwood's half back line, with Neil Mann and Jack Hamilton excelling, repulsed Melbourne time and time again. Hamilton and Bob McKenzie staged interesting duels, but Hamilton, who was Collingwood's best player, had the better of the day. McKenzie was playing his first game for some weeks. Shane McGrath (Melbourne full back), and Bill Twomey, were well matched, but the conditions generally favoured the Melbourne player. Twomey's three goals were well earned. He moved far from goal, but could not lose the tenacious McGrath. The centre line seemed to be fairly evenly matched, although George Bickford (Melbourne) had a slight call over Charlie Utting (Collingwood). The scores were not a true indication of the play, which was of a high order, taking the heavy ground into account. Melbourne obtained the winning break in the third term, when they held Collingwood to one goal. Neither side slackened in the last quarter, the highlight being a beautiful goal by Arthur Pound, the new Melbourne full forward, after the bell had sounded. Melbourne's best player was Denis Cordner, who marked the greasy ball perfectly, and whose kicking was of a high standard. He was the best of the ruck men, and, in addition, kicked six goals. Collingwood's best player was Hamilton, who gave a splendid exhibition of half back play.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY HOLIDAY CLASH

The highest home and away crowd occurred in the 1958 Melbourne and Collingwood Queen's Birthday fixture, when 99,256 attended the Round 10 match. The popularity of the Queen's or King's Birthday matches is astounding. In the early 1890s, crowds turned out in great numbers. One of the great Queen's Birthday rivalries was Essendon and South Melbourne and their meetings at the East Melbourne Cricket Ground attracted 37,108 on Saturday, May 24, 1890, 37,202 on Monday, May 25, 1891 and 35,409 on Tuesday May 24, 1892. In the years of Queen Victoria's reign, the Queen's Birthday holiday was celebrated on May 24 – the date of her birth in 1819 – whichever day of the week it fell on, except when it fell on a Sunday, when Monday May 25 became the holiday. The first VFL season, in 1897, contained one split round: Round 3, with two matches on Saturday, May 22 and two on Monday, May 24. Full rounds were played on Tuesday, May 24, 1898, Wednesday, May 24, 1899, and Thursday, May 23, 1900, with the exception of the Essendon v Collingwood match, which was brought forward to Wednesday, May 23, 1900, an additional public holiday spontaneously proclaimed to celebrate the "Relief of Mafeking" in the Boer War. When Queen Victoria died early in 1901, and Edward VII ascended the throne, the practice began of gazetting this holiday (known as the King's Birthday from 1901 to 1951) on a Monday early in June, while May 24, though no longer a public holiday, was retained as Empire Day.

ABOUT THE KING'S/QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY HOLIDAY IN AUSTRALIA

The day has been celebrated since 1788 when Governor Arthur Phillip declared a holiday to mark the sovereign's birthday. Until 1936, it was held on the actual birthday of the monarch, but, after King George V died, it was decided to keep the date on the second Monday in June. This has more evenly spaced out public holidays throughout the year. While George V's successor, Edward VIII, also celebrated his birthday in June, the two sovereigns since have not: George VI's birthday was in December, very close to public holidays for Christmas, Boxing Day and New Year's, while Queen Elizabeth II's birthday falls shortly after holidays for Good Friday and Easter and very close to ANZAC Day.

PLAYED WITH BOTH CLUBS

Billy "Pickles" Libbis had a distinguished career with Collingwood between 1925 and 1933, playing 138 games and kicking 150 goals. He was a forward and rover in some of Collingwood's greatest ever teams, during the period when they won four consecutive premierships from 1927 to 1930. Team-mate Gordon Coventry claimed he was "the best rover he ever saw". After Round 2, 1931, Libbis was suspended for eight games for striking Ted Pool of Hawthorn and he only played three further games that season before being hospitalised with appendicitis. He returned to play 18 games for the Magpies in 1932 but, after one game with Collingwood in 1933, a pay dispute with the club saw him continue his League career at Melbourne, where he played a further 39 games (25 goals) from 1933 to 1935. He represented Victoria in his first season at Melbourne, and in total played 12 games for Victoria from 1926 to 1933. In 2003, 70 years after he transferred to Melbourne, and 17 years after his death, Collingwood made Libbis a Life Member of the club. Ten years later he became a member of Collingwood's Hall of Fame.

BIG FREEZE AT THE 'G

The annual Big Freeze at the 'G was first held in 2015 as a Motor Neurone Disease (MND) fundraiser. "Big Freeze at the 'G"-branded merchandise is sold, and celebrities and football personalities in fancy dress take a waterslide into a pool of ice-water, situated in the Ponsford Stand, to raise money and awareness. Since 2015 the best player in the Queen's Birthday match has been awarded the Neale Daniher Trophy, named after the Essendon great and former Melbourne coach, whose inspiring battle with MND has galvanised the football community.

In 2020, due to the pandemic and Melbourne being in lockdown, the MND Fundraiser, branded Big Freeze 6, was broadcast by Channel 7 from numerous venues on the Queen's Birthday holiday. Although the 2021 Queen's Birthday match was shifted to Sydney, Big Freeze 7, went ahead as scheduled at the MCG.
